APOLLO CLUB HEARD MILWAUKEE ARTISTS

Mrs. Jane Auer, Miss Camille Lonsdorf, and Ralph Rowland Took Part in Notable Concert.

"Better and better," "beautiful," "splendid," "the finest concert yet given"—these and similar encomiums were heard from the lips of the fortunate possessors of membership in the Apollo Club, both during and after last night's concert in Library Hall. And the facts fully justified the praise given. It was a strong and splendid program splendidly performed; almost every number encoored, and most kindly and selfdenyingly responded to by the various artists notwithstanding the great length of the program. Mrs. Jane Stuart Auer, Miss Camille A. Lonsdorf, Mr. Ralph Rowland, all of Milwaukee, with Mrs. Sweeney, Miss Pearl Peters and Mr. Roy Carter, these were the evening's performers.

Mrs. Auer's beautiful soprano and gracious stage presence completely captured her audience; her excerpts, eleven in number, exclusive of encores, illustrating the full range and capacity of her voice. Gounod's "O Divine Redeemer" and Riego's "O Dry Those Tears" seemed to stand out by themselves as the gems of her serious numbers; while Bemberg's "Nymphs et Sylvains," Wilson's "Carmen," showed her to splendid advantage in lighter mood. Mrs. Auer's voice is beautiful and true, and coupled with intense sympathy and absolute unaffectedness of manner, is indeed a joy to all lovers of music. It is to be hoped that this will not prove to be her first and last appearance in Janesville.

Why do not more than a very few musicians take up the harp as their solo instrument? Drowned under a heavy orchestra, or "tun-nummed" by a rassy street quartette, is for the most part, our only experience of harp music. Last evening, however, the audience was favored with a magnificent illustration of what a harp can really do under an artist's touch. Miss Camille A. Lonsdorf in her two numbers, notably in Cheshire's "Valse Caprice," manifested her complete mastery of her chosen instrument, which she evidently loves to play. She most kindly responded to two encores.

Mr. Ralph Rowland showed himself a sympathetic, correct and strong violinist, and shone in all that he did. His Mendelssohn Concerto and Wieniawski's Scherzo Taraballe being especially fine. The attention of Janesville people should once more be called to the fact that they should not be so selfish as to drive a willing horse to death, when they expect an encore, nor demand one, after such an exciting number as the Scherzo Taraballe. An acknowledgment on the part of the artist should be sufficient after such an effort, and an audience has no right to expect to hear him again, especially where he appears in subsequent numbers on a program.

Mrs. Sweeney's solo numbers should have been placed earlier in the program, for although she played extremely well, as she always does, yet it was easily seen that she was playing her solos after she had become tired out, having played eighteen accompaniments—some of them very exacting ones—previous to her solo numbers.

Mr. Roy Carter, with Miss Peters as accompanist, opened the program, and sang with his usual sympathy, giving much pleasure to his hearers.

COUNTY DRUGGISTS AT THEIR MEETING

Pass Resolutions Regarding Important Matters in the Drug World of Today.

One of the most interesting meetings of the Rock County Druggists Association was held Monday at the Hotel Myers. The meeting began with a dinner, twenty-two of the twenty-seven firms in Rock county were represented. Those present were: Messrs. C. A. Emerson, C. A. Smith, F. Van Wart, D. B. Pollock, Beloit; R. H. Anderson, O. L. Woodward, Clinton; L. Schmidley, Evansville; J. W. Stangle, Edgerton; Geo. E. King, E. B. Heimstreet, J. P. Baker, W. T. Sherer, Wm. Fleunig, H. E. Ranous, Smith & Co., Janesville; W. P. Clarke, Milton; W. R. Thorpe, W. F. Gates, Milton Junction; Chas. Taylor, Orfordville.

E. B. Heimstreet spoke of the new fire insurance company, of which he is a director for retail druggists, that is a director for the national bodies of the druggists, that it would be a capital of $200,000, and do business in all the states, and the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Rock County Druggists Association endorse the American Druggists' Fire Insurance Company, and that we will do all we can to promote the interests of the same in Wisconsin, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the press for publication. Carried.

W. P. Clarke then spoke of the proposed postal law and offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, By the Rock County Retail Druggists Association in annual meeting assembled, that we are opposed to the passage by congress of the bill known as the "Parcel Post Bill," believing that its enactment into law would be detrimental to the interest of the retail trade of the country.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the members of congress from this district, and to the senators from this state, also to the N. A. R. D. Notes for publication.

Committee of Paris Green reported that several potato bugs had already been seen and an invasion promised early in June. The druggists however refused to advance the price of Paris Green, and it probably will remain at the same price as last year, although the wholesalers have advanced it.

The most interesting part of the meeting was the discussion on denatured alcohol, the sale of same is surrounded by so much red tape that it is hard to fully understand the law. A permit must be had from the government; then a monthly record must be made to the collector, sworn to before a notary public, then the price being so much more than has been given, make many hesitate about handling it.

However, it will be on the market in a couple of weeks. After this business was finished officers were elected for the coming year. Mr. J. M. Farnsworth of Beloit was elected president; W. H. Gates of Milton, vice president; E. B. Heimstreet, Janesville, secretary and treasurer.

Then adjourned to meet at Beloit the first week in April. E. B. Heimstreet was unanimously elected as the delegate to the State Pharmaceutical Association. It was rather an unusual sight to see twenty-two competitors in business all meeting as old friends and throwing aside business to enjoy themselves in a social way. The Rock County Association is one of the oldest in the country, having been organized in 1875.

If you enjoy medicine and wishes, try Mrs. Austin's Pains Expeller and you will be delighted with the results.

WAS MADE DIRECTOR OF THE NEW COMPANY

E. B. Heimstreet Honored by the Recently Organized American Druggist Fire Insurance Company.

E. B. Heimstreet has received the official announcement that the recently organized American Druggist Fire Insurance Company has elected him one of the thirteen directors. With this honor comes the word that he is to act as the state agent for the association in perfecting their organization. The American Druggist Fire Insurance Company is a mutual company and has just been organized with a capital stock of a hundred thousand dollars. In speaking of the matter this morning Mr. Heimstreet said: "Yes, I have been elected a member of the board of directors and also have charge of the work in this state. The plan is to insure the retail drug stores against loss. The company is a mutual one and was endorsed by the National Druggist Association at their last meeting. I shall attend a meeting of the company in Cincinnati shortly and will then begin the organization of Wisconsin. It will take me away from Janesville a good deal but I shall retain my store and have my headquarters here. My long experience on the state board has given me a state wide acquaintance and I shall enjoy the work very much. I will be the only agent in the state, the idea being to have the directors each take a state and have no sub-agents. We have a paid up capitalization of $100,000 and are now ready for work in thirteen states."

No chance for disappointment if you serve Mrs. Austin's Pains Expeller. All grocers sell it.

SIXTY-NINE CENTS EACH FOR CHICKENS

Aud $251 for Pairs of Western Horses—Auctioneer Dooley Tells About Big Prices of the Day.

He says that he sold two brood sows with five pigs each for $80 and that all sorts of chickens went for 69c apiece. Western horses brought $251 a pair and $2,000 worth of stock and farm machinery belonging to Stephenson and son, the tenants, was disposed of in three hours.

"One day's work," said Mr. Dooley, "I got $3.50 for ordinary sheep. If Roosevelt has anything to do with these good times I hope he'll stay right in the saddle. Money is certainly plentiful."

ADDITIONAL LIGHT ON CHAIN-PRAYER

Rev. H. C. Boissier Says That Bishop Lawrence's Name is Used Absolutely Without Sanction.

TO THE EDITOR: Noticing in yesterday's issue that Dr. J. W. Langhin of the Presbyterian church had become a victim of the chain-prayer which is going the rounds, and that he had warned his people to take no notice of said prayer. I deem it only just to the public to state that as far as the prayer emanating in any way from Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts, to the religious press of the Episcopal church (and doubtless others), to the effect that his name is being used absolutely without his sanction; that he has had nothing whatever to do with the prayer, and that it is evidently the work of some demented person. However, such notices do not seem to have lessened the number of letters, so that recently he has sent a personal communication to each of the clergy, requesting them to tell their people that the letter is a fraud and forgery of his name. It is to be hoped that, at all events, Janesville people will treat this miserable chain-letter in the way it deserves, and thus help to stamp out the nuisance.

Respectfully Yours,

HERBERT C. BOISSIER,

Rector, Trinity Church.

LARGE AUDIENCES GREET REVIVALIST

Much Encouragement for Rev. E. P. Loose, Now at the Local Presbyterian Church.

Thus far Rev. E. P. Loose of Waukesha, who is conducting revival meetings at the Presbyterian church this week, has been greeted by good-sized audiences. The outlook is very encouraging and before long we expect to see a large number of converts.

The meeting of the sermon, which will be next Sunday evening, much good will have been accomplished. He is possessed of a magnetic personality, is a clear speaker and his sermons are analytical. Last evening his subject was "Life's Choice" and his central thought was that we should choose a good example for the moulding or shaping of character.

Mr. Loose speaks every afternoon at three and every evening at half past seven.

SHOPIERE.

Shopiere, Jan. 14.—Rev. McGee of Clinton preached at the Congregation church on Sunday morning and a service was held there in the evening.

The meetings held during the week of prayer were quite well attended, considering the rough roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Fonda spent a few days in Chicago, returning on Saturday evening.

Mr. Klingbeil delivered his tobacco last week.

Miss Roberty entertained a friend at Mr. H. Case's over Sunday.

Mrs. S. K. Sweet has been on the sick list but is now better.

Max Merriman who has been ill with typhoid fever is now recovering.

The L. A. S. met at Mrs. Wheeler's last Thursday to elect officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. Shippeal was chosen president and Mrs. Huggart vice president.

Mrs. Wheeler was re-elected secretary and Mrs. O'Brien treasurer. The society has cleared about $125 in the last year.

POULTRY SHOWS IN DIFFERENT CITIES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Boston, Mass., Jan. 15.—Mechanics' building was transformed today into an immense barnyard, and all day long it resounded with the cackling of hens, crowing of roosters, quacking of ducks and geese, piping of canaries, while the sounds from other varieties of poultry contributed to the musical medley in the great building. The eleventh annual exhibition of the Boston poultry association was opened in the morning and the show will continue through the week. The exhibition is the largest the association has ever held. In addition to all varieties of poultry it includes many fine specimens of pigeons, cats, water fowl and pet stock. A special feature this year has been made of dressed poultry and eggs. Thomas W. Lawson and others have contributed liberally to the list of premiums.

In Cincinnati, Cincinnati, O., Jan. 15.—Several thousand exhibits of highest class make up the ninth annual show of the Cincinnati Poultry and Pet Stock association, which opened in Music Hall today, to continue through the remainder of the week. A bench show is an added attraction to the exhibition this year. Upwards of $10,000 in prizes will be distributed among the winning exhibitors.

In Minneapolis, Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 15.—The twenty-first annual exhibition of the Minnesota State Poultry association opened today in the old city hall. Several thousand birds, all of them hand-somely housed, make up the exhibition.

The entries come from all parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, the Dakotas, Nebraska and from across the Canadian border. The competition among exhibitors is very keen and the outlook is bright for the most successful show of its kind ever held in the northwest.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

THE CAR SHORTAGE

James J. Hill, the railway magnate of the Northwest, makes the statement this morning that eleven hundred millions of dollars a year for the next five years must be spent by the railroads in providing extra trackage to take care of the business now in sight without taking into account the natural increase. This statement was brought forth by the cry of shortage of cars for the transportation of fuel and produce to and from the great northwest. Mr. Hill does not believe that the capitalists of the country are going to invest this amount as long as there is such a popular demand for railway investigation and curtailing of the profits by radical taxation. Mr. Hill even suggests that we go back to the steamboat traffic of the fifties and that the southwest be cared for by the river transportation of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers. Even with this help Mr. Hill sees a difficulty owing to the lack of room for immense railway yards, which would be necessary at shipping points. The immensity of the proposition is appalling. Eleven hundred millions of dollars. The railroads have developed new country, have made the American farmer the lord of the universe, have given the United States prestige throughout the civilized world, have annihilated space with fast trains and the real trouble is that the country is growing too fast for the roads to keep pace. Mr. Hill is an astute railroad man and sees into the future. This has been his life's work and he utters a word of warning when he intimates that capitalists are not going to risk their fortunes in enterprises that can be swept away by the will of demagogues and radical legislatures. It is well to stop and consider this phase of the question before endorsing the popular demand for railway legislation of a restricting character.

ROOSEVELT'S OPINION

President Roosevelt, on Monday presented to Congress a message relative to the Brownsville, Texas, affair which resulted in the dismissal of a whole battalion of colored troops from the regular army. President Roosevelt has been criticised for his action in this matter and even now the United States Senate is hearing arguments pro and con on the subject. "Pitchfork" Tillman brought out the "Bogy" of race supremacy in a bitter arraignment of Roosevelt and his methods and today Senator Spooner is answering him and defending the President. In his message President Roosevelt laid before Congress the facts of the case, which in his mind justified his action. He sent them evidence that soldiers and no one but soldiers did the shooting, by displaying shells found at Brownsville immediately after the trouble, which could only have come from the style of Springfield rifles used in the army. The President's statement was accompanied by documents from the secretary of war relative to the matter and both were ordered printed and put on file for future reference, while the Senate proceeded to go ahead with the arguments for a special inquiry of their own. The Brownsville affair promises to become a national episode before the end really comes and yet the more thorough the investigation the more the public come to believe that the colored soldiers were guilty of the offense charged.

THE LEGISLATURE

At the present time all eyes are turned towards Madison and the possible actions of the state legislature. That reform legislation will be enacted is expected, but how far it will go is the question. The "paternal" idea that has pervaded throughout the state for the past six years appears to be on the wane and some good sensible legislation on needed questions will doubtless be enacted before the present session closes. One of the country's famous jurists once said that we had too many laws. This is true. Our statute books are filled with legislation that needs decisions of the supreme court to decipher and still every two years we see more difficulties added for attorneys to wrangle over. Speaker Ekern has the chance of a lifetime to become a great man or a mere nothing in his position as speaker of the lower house. Thus far he does not appear to have decided upon chairmanships of committees and has even consulted with Governor Davidson regarding important positions. This may be taken as a move towards party harmony or it may be a foxy scheme to make Davidson believe he is really having something to do with the organization of the legislature while in reality he merely is a pawn in the hands of the Junior Senator, the real dictator. A series of bitter attacks upon the railroads is to be expected. This is an era of reform. From the President down the question of investigation and repression of the money interests of the country appears to be popular. It catches the masses and smacks of socialism which always pleases the great army of unwashed who want something for nothing. Advices from Madison say that at least a dozen two-cent fare measures will be introduced giving the committees plenty of work in deciding which to present for consideration. It is safe to say that the present session will last into June again. Delay is the keynote of the radical wing of the party, delay and then shouldering the blame of the heavy extra expenses upon the shoulders of someone else. However, it will be interesting to watch the progress.

It is intimated that an era of reform may be waited Janesville's way before the spring election. It is usual for the retiring Mayor to close the town up tight just before he leaves office so the people will forget the months it was open before.

The only people who really enjoy cold weather are the ice men and coal dealers. The ice men want to lay in their next summer's stock of frozen fluid and the coal men want to make coal burn while the mercury hovers near zero.

Senator Spooner has again lifted his voice in defense of President Roosevelt and his action in the negro soldiers' affair. Spooner appears still to be one of the stand-bys of the administration, despite the dejection of the Milwaukee Free Press.

They say that Governor Deneen's name has been placed in the presidential pie and that when the time comes the Illinois executive will pop out as did the four and twenty blackbirds of fabled days.

The Janesville city fathers have many perplexing matters for their consideration, but the one that puzzles them most is how to get around that city attorney's decision as to the five dollars a night salary question.

Governor Hughes of New York has begun trimming the Odell grab tree and has used his executive hatchet to lop off a few dead limbs. This is the first act of a true reformer every time.

The Racine aldermen are to have two hundred dollars a year salary and a fine of three dollars for every absence from a council meeting. Why not consider such a proposition, Mr. Aldermen?

Chicago has at least five murder trials going on in different courtrooms this week. In each long sentences in prison or the hangman's noose are imminent.

While they still insist that Medicine Hat is located in the banana belt, the thermometer drops down to way below the zero mark with remarkable frequency.

Work on the state capitol is to be begun at once. The cement basement walls are to be laid regardless of winter weather, snows or freezing.

Candidates for Mayor are popping up like weeds after a rain in summer. Several have their lightning rods up for the nomination flash.

PURCHASE OF OLD GLUCOSE FACTORY

Made an Investment by Recent Well-Known Resident of Beloit—
"Line City Notes."
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Beloit, Wis., Jan. 15.—L. B. Lambert, for many years in the employ of the Fairbanks-Morse company here, who recently took a position with a wholesale lumber company in Chicago, has purchased the old glucose plant at Rockford. The price is not announced, but it is known to have been low and the understanding is that Mr. Lambert has secured a purchaser at a much higher figure. The plant and equipment originally cost a million dollars, but since it was taken over by the glucose syndicate has been gradually closed down and dismantled, much of the machinery being moved to near Chicago, where the "trust" has "hunched" its manufacturing. What Mr. Lambert secured was but a portion of the machinery, the buildings and fifteen acres of land.

Satisfied; Paid Fine
As John Welch came from the Salvation Army hall last evening he was assaulted by Elmer Moffatt, who claimed that his victim had insulted his sister Sunday night. This morning in court Welch disclaimed any acquaintance with Moffatt's sister and Moffatt, stating that he had been satisfied, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $25 and costs.

NEW IDEA OF CONSUMPTION;

Doctor Says Disease Is Primarily Derived from Cattle.

A London physician, Dr. W. Pickett Turner, who has made a first-hand study of the disease for many years, advances the theory that the medical world is attacking the problem of consumption by an utterly false route.

His view, briefly stated, is that tuberculosis is an animal disease primarily derived, in all cases, from cattle. It belongs, he says, to the mycotic group of diseases; diseases in which the original source of infection is a plant. Bovine cattle derive tuberculosis from timothy and other allied grasses by natural affinity.

Man acquires the disease by ingestion or inoculation, never by inhalation. It is not hereditary; neither is there any predisposition to it in the individual. The bacillus in a state of nature is saprophyte, feeding on decay of the vegetable world. But the bacillus becomes pathogenic—capable of causing disease—in cattle when they are deprived of actinism or the property of the chemical rays in sunlight. It would, if all this be true, become reasonable to assume that by restoring actinism to cattle the bacillus would again become a saprophyte, in which case consumption would be exterminated.

NO SNAKES IN CANADA.

The Great Forests Are Singularly Free from Reptiles.

A curious thing about Canadian forests is that there are no snakes, and even from a description, the Indian guides did not seem to understand what a snake would be like.

Fishing all through Canada is as good as the hunting, and should one fall to bag a moose he is fully recompensed for the trip by the abundance of other game, including bear and deer. There is a weird melancholy about Canadian forests, with their hundreds of small lakes and rivers scattered here and there, and although the scenery never rises to the magnificent, there is something haunting, aside from the sport in it, that draws the hunter back season after season. Canada is filled with legends and strange superstitions; most of them of Indian origin, and all of them interesting to a degree, especially when related by one of the Indian guides who can be induced to talk.—Leslie's Weekly.

A Skating One.

Yvette Guilbert, the famous French actress, is an excellent skater. In the Bois de Boulogne, in Paris, there is an ice rink where Mme. Guilbert's skating is one of the principal attractions. Talking about skating in New York one day, Mme. Guilbert said: "It is only through perseverance that one learns to skate well. I am sure no one ever suffered more than I in learning to skate."

"I remember one day in my girlhood, the second or third time I had ever been on the ice. I was returning home in a crowded omnibus, and a kind old man got up and offered me his seat."

"I shook my head, and the old man laughed a good deal when I said: 'No, thank you. I've been skating, and I'm tired of sitting down.'"

Longing for Country Life.

A strange thing is the universal longing of professional men and others who have come to the city and have prospered as they advance in life to get back to the country. It is seldom that they do return, and when they do there is often disappointment and things do not appear as they did long ago. The change is in the man himself, but he thinks it is in the country. Nevertheless, the desire to get back to the old country place to end one's days is very general. Sir Walter Scott refers to it and compares the course of a man through the world to that of the hare which is started from her lair and after a long chase and making a large circle ends by returning to the nest from which she started.

All Pieces But the Pawn.
The archbishop of Canterbury, on one occasion, when addressing the members of a chess club, said that though he "was not a distinguished chess player, he could claim to be a representative of chess in an unusual degree, for he had seen a good deal of kings and queens, had lived in two castles and was the only living man who was both a knight and a bishop, so that he represented all the pieces except the pawn."

Hotentot.
The origin of this name for the natives of South Africa is peculiar. It is said that the early Dutch soldiers at the Cape of Good Hope particularly noticed the click that forms so distinct a feature of the Kaffir language, which sounded to them like a continuous repetition of the syllables "hot" and "tot." They therefore called the natives Hotentots, the "on" meaning "and" in the Dutch language.

Dog Days.
Bill—Did you get any frankfurters while you were on your vacation?
Jill—No; I asked for em several times, but they told me they were out of season.

"That's all nonsense! You were away during the dog days, weren't you?"—Yonkers Statesman.

A Beat All-Around.
"The count's rich wife said he beat her."
"His creditors said he did the same thing to them."—Baltimore American.

JUDGEMENT WAS FOR WILSON LANE

In the Action Tried in Circuit Court This Morning—Two Trials on Thursday.

In circuit court this morning Judge Grimm rendered a judgment for the defendant in the sum of $27.87 in the action of Billings & Frederickson vs. Wilson Lane. The plaintiffs did the masonry work of a house on Harrison street erected by the defendant and the total sum involved was $353.88.

Mr. Lane paid $775 and withheld the balance until the contract as he understood it should be completed. The last date was to return the lot to proper grade, according to his understanding of the agreement, and when the contractors failed to do this and commenced an action to recover, he entered a counter claim for the amount it had cost him to have the premises put back into shape. Costs are taxed to the plaintiff. The Stockman vs. Wixom and Boylan vs. Quiry cases will be tried on Thursday; the Willis Tanberg vs. Stanley Tallman action for trespass in a garnishee action, on Friday; and the Kinschke vs. the St. Paul Ry. Co. jury case, next Tuesday.

REPRESENTS ACTORS' CHURCH ALLIANCE

Rev. H. C. Boissier Is Janesville Chaplain of the Interdenominational Organization.

The Actors' Church Alliance, an interdenominational organization with headquarters in New York, is designed for the purpose of rendering spiritual and other assistance to members of the theatrical profession as they may request or need. It is an excellent organization and does a great deal of good quietly and unobtrusively. One of its aims is to have some clergyman in each town, and many in the large cities, act as local chaplains and thus on the watch for its beneficent work. The pastor of Trinity church, Rev. H. C. Boissier, has been a chaplain of the alliance for many years previous to his coming here, and now represents the alliance in Janesville.

Lieut. A. F. LEE, CO., D. COUNTY BOARD

2d Wis. Vol. Inf.

One of our honored veterans of the civil war, 55 years a resident of Janesville.

When men like he make a statement it carries weight. Mr. Lee says: "Dr. Richards, Dentist extracted 4 badly decayed teeth for me on October 10th, and he never hurt me one bit."

Just ask him about it the next time you see him.

If you want painless work why don't you do as he did and go to:

DR. RICHARDS,

The man who does what he advertises. Dr. Richards has made Painless Dentistry a life-long study, and his every effort will be to send you away from his office a pleased and satisfied patient.

Remember the place.

COUNTY BOARD IS IN SESSION

CHAIRMAN S. S. JONES' GAVEL TELL AT 2 P. M.

$12.40 FOR THE SAILORS

Of Great Lakes Was Collected in a Hat by W. M. Van Slyke—District Attorney Made a Petition.

At two o'clock this afternoon the county board of supervisors assembled for the annual January meeting. Chairman S. S. Jones presiding. Thomas Evenson came in place of J. E. Egan of Spring Valley who is ill and unable to attend. The two district school superintendents certified that they would need $200 each for postage, printing, etc., during the ensuing year. The county clerk was instructed to make a demand on the Milwaukee authorities for $12.75 for the care of Chas. B. Colby, an insane patient who was taken in hand in this city last October. W. M. Van Slyke, representing the Western Seamen's Friends' society, who collected $9.52 from the board last year, was again allowed to speak and pass the hat. This time he gathered in $12.40. District Attorney J. L. Fisher submitted a communication calling attention to the fact that the institution of a new municipal court in Beloit had greatly increased the work of his office; that the county paid for a stenographer and telephone rental during the last term of W. A. Jackson; that after actual expenses were paid, his present salary amounted to, but $60 a month; and asking that something along the line of paying for a stenographer and telephone service be done by the supervisors. The matter was referred to a committee consisting of Supervisors Skavlon, Cannon, and Smiley. The proposed new barn at the county farm was made a special order of business for tomorrow afternoon.

RAILWAY WRECK IN CITY LAST NIGHT

Break-down of Locomotive Blocked Janesville & Southeastern For Nearly Seven Hours.

At half past ten o'clock last evening a locomotive on an out-bound freight over the Janesville & Southeastern branch of the St. Paul road broke down just south of Rock River tower in Spring Brook and the line was blocked until five o'clock this morning. The train was running as a second section of number 160 and the big engine, number 1603, was in charge of Engineer R. J. Casey of Chicago. Just after passing the intersection of the R. B. & J. electric line the journal of the middle drive wheel on the left suddenly broke and before much damage could be done the train was brought to a standstill. The local wrecking crew was summoned, but it was not until two o'clock that the Chicago train dispatcher would give them orders to leave the yard. The rolling stock was put in condition to be hauled into the city for repairs but the wrecker was held at the tower for more than an hour, no orders being obtainable during that time. Meanwhile, several trains from the north were sent via Beloit and Bardwell. Through some misunderstanding the steam derrick was sent here from Chicago, arriving about seven, two hours after the line had been cleared.

CALLS JANESVILLE A GARDEN OF EDEN

Former Resident Writes From Esmond, North Dakota, of the Weather.

C. A. Sanborn who formerly lived in Janesville and now makes his home in Esmond, North Dakota, writes of the car shortage and cold weather. In a letter he says: "We are having a very hard winter, snow thirty inches deep and quite cold, this morning (January 7), it is twenty below zero. We are having great trouble with the railroads, car shortage and almost impassable movement of trains on account of snow. I see you have occasional comment in your paper in reference to the troubles, but you people down there in the Garden of Eden, can't appreciate the annoyance and even suffering, in many cases of the great northwest."

DECLINED TO PAY FINES; WAS TRIED

Rusk Lyceum Investigated Merits of Contempt Charge Against John Underwood, a Member.

Because John Underwood, a member of the society, refused to pay two fines amounting to twenty cents for absence from a meeting and non-appearance on a program, he was duly tried by a court of the Rusk Lyceum of the high school last evening. It is customary for the club to vote on such matters but to vary the program the trial was arranged. Fred Jensen presided as the judge and his clerk was Walter Alvis. The meeting had been declared open and a mixed jury was named as follows: Hazel Howe, Marie Bates, Helen Jeffris, Wilma Jones, Thomas Cassidy, W. James and Will Phelps. Orville B. Swift, as attorney for the society, endeavored to show that the defendant was guilty of contempt of rules, having declined to pay duly levied fines. Underwood, who acted as his own attorney, proved to the satisfaction of the jury that his absence from the meeting, for which he was fined, was excusable and that he secured a substitute on the program. His acquittal remitted the fine.

THREE CHICAGO FIRMS SEEK TO TIE UP LOCAL MANUFACTURING PLANT.

SEEK RECEIVER APPOINTED

Janesville Sash and Door Company in Financial Difficulties at Present.

Word from Madison this afternoon announces that the Leavitt Lumber Company, John A. Gouger Co. and the Standard Glass Co. late yesterday afternoon made an application before Referee in Bankruptcy H. M. Lewis at Madison for a receiver for the Janesville Sash and Door Company of this city. The total amount of their claims is twelve hundred dollars.

Factory Running.
The factory is running today and Mr. Albert Schaller said that he hoped the present difficulties would be overcome and the company put on a firm financial basis. It is understood that the trouble has been brought about by the lack of a working capital and tying up large sums in big contracts. The mill has been busy and the firm have many orders which they have not been able to fill.

Assets Large.
It is said that the assets are in the neighborhood of seventy thousand, while the liabilities are slightly in excess. The hearing before Mr. Lewis will come up on Saturday when a settlement may be made with the Chicago firms.

Findlay, O., Jan. 15.—The January panel of the Hancock county grand jury, which has been in session for the past week, reported Monday evening to Judge Schroth 939 separate indictments against the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, the Standard Oil company of Ohio, the Ohio Oil company, the Buckeye Pipe Line company, the Solar Refinery company, the Manhattan Oil company, John D. Rockefeller, H. H. Rogers, Wesley Tifford, John D. Archbold, Frank Q. Barstow, William Rockefeller and F. T. Cuthbert.

They are formally charged with being members of a trust for conspiracy against trade.

Swamps Court's Officers. There are 535 words in each indictment or a total of 482,975 words. Each case will be docketed separately and the county clerk and sheriff's office will be swamped for some months to come.

Prosecutor David said Monday night that he purposely held off action until the salary law with county officials became effective as he did not wish to run up a big cost bill which would have resulted under the old fee system.

If Hancock county wins in each case when they are tried, fines can be assessed aggregating $58,000,000. When the report of the grand jury was filed, Prosecutor David on his own motion nolle the indictments returned last September against John D. Rockefeller, M. G. Vilas, J. M. Robertson and H. P. McIntosh, the last three named being officials of the Standard Oil company of Ohio.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Chicago's application for permission to reverse the current of the Calumet river in order to provide the city with a proper system of sewerage met with opposition Monday at a hearing before Secretary Taft. Why Farmer Should Give His Support to the Local Merchant.

PRESERVES HIS OWN MARKET

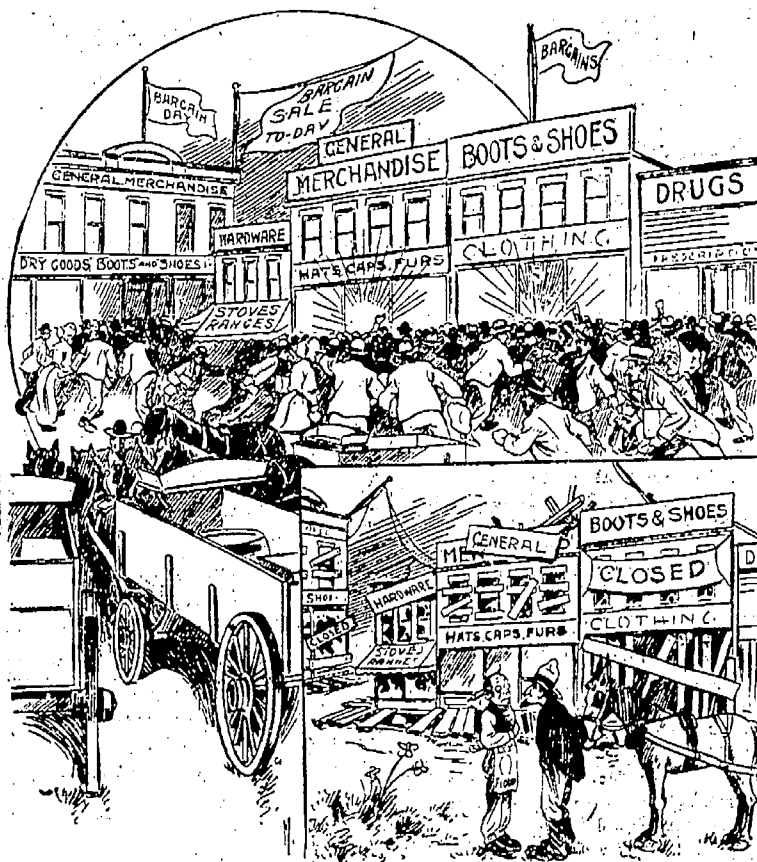

Depreciation of Village Property
Must Inevitably Mean Depreciation of Agricultural Property and Encouragement of Monopoly.

(Copyright, 1906, by Alfred C. Clark.)
The most serious problem that confronts the rural towns and villages of this country is the competition of the local enterprises by the catalogue houses of the large cities. It is a problem for which a solution must be found if the prosperity and stability of the nation is to stand.

And the solution of this great problem lies in the hands of the people of the towns and villages and the farms, especially the farms.

The people of the rural communities have everything to lose and nothing to gain by sending their money to the catalogue houses, by passing by their local merchants and sending their dollars to the concerns who have absolutely no interest in their communities.

These catalogue houses do not pay taxes in your town; the local merchant does. They do not build sidewalks in your town; the local merchant does. They do not contribute to the building of roads over which the crops of the farms are hauled to market; the local merchant does.

Give your town a chance by patronizing your local merchants and you may confidently expect its growth in business and population and a raise in real estate valuation. Send your money to the catalogue houses and you may look for the reverse. The picture tells the story of the possibilities.

They do not help to build school houses for your children; the local merchant does. They do not assist in the support of your churches; the local merchant does.

But there are some things the catalogue houses do for you and the first and greatest of these is to assist materially in bankrupting your community. The dollars they take away never come back to you. They will never help to make a city of your village. They will never increase the value of your real-estate holdings by making local improvements.

Let us look at the subject from the standpoint of the farmer; for it is the farmer who is the greatest patron of the catalogue houses.

The town or village, one, two or three miles from his home is his market for the butter and eggs and other produce of his farm. The half dozen or more merchants of the town, each anxious to obtain his full share of the business of the community, maintain a competition that affords to the farmer at all times top prices for the products of his farm. It is these half dozen merchants that make farm profits possible; the profits are in no way due to the catalogue houses of the cities.

But the farmer persists in sending his dollars to the city. He wants a buggy, or a set of harness, or a pair of stockings, or any of the necessities or luxuries of life, and to get them he takes out his mail order catalogue and looks at the finely printed cuts, reads the well written description, and, passing the local merchant by, the merchant who has purchased his produce at the best market prices, the merchant who has helped to build the community, he sends his dollars to the catalogue house in the city and takes what they choose to send him.

What is the result?
One after another the doors of the local stores are closed, and where at one time there were half a dozen merchants, each bidding for his share of patronage by offering fair prices for that which the farmer had to sell, there is now but one merchant who has a monopoly, not only of the selling, but of the buying as well, and he pays what he pleases for the farmer's produce.

The farmer can continue to send his money to the catalogue house in the city for his supplies, but he cannot send his produce to the same place.

O. & P. League

Cleveland, O., Jan. 15.—The managers of the Ohio and Pennsylvania baseball league met here today to discuss the schedule and other matters relating to the coming season. All the cities of the league were represented.

In disposing of that he is absolutely dependent upon his local merchant, and by his patronage of the catalogue houses he has killed competition, and must now take whatever is offered for what he has to sell.

Mr. Farmer, are you helping to kill the goose that is laying your golden egg?

Are you sending your dollars to the catalogue houses and by so doing killing the local industries of your town? Are you putting your merchants out of business, and creating a monopoly that will pay you what it pleases for the products of your farm?

If you are doing these things it is time for you to stop and consider the future. You will have to look but a little way ahead to see the result, and it will not be an attractive picture that greets you. The prosperous community of which you are now a part will fade like the summer flowers before the winter winds, and almost as quickly.

It is the fact that there is a market within close proximity to your farm that makes your acres valuable. The men who maintain this local market for you are the men who cause the railroad trains to stop at your town. Take them away and soon the town will be wiped off the map. The churches will close for lack of support. The schools will cease to be a pride, and your sons and daughters will lack the opportunity that is theirs by right of birth, and your acres, that are now valuable because they lie in close proximity to a market, will show a depreciation that will astonish you.

Your interests are identical with those of the merchants of your town. By sending your dollars to the city you may cause the merchants to close their establishments, but when they are forced to this they can pack their

LEGISLATORS WILL NOT PROBE.

Brown in Nebraska and Guggenheim in Colorado Escape Inquiries.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 15.—The lower house of the legislature Monday tabled the resolution to investigate Norris Brown, Republican candidate for United States senator, without debate. The vote was 69 to 23, five fusionists voting to table. These explanations that the charges made were rejected by the people of the state at the last election. Members of the legislature say Mr. Brown will be named senator Wednesday when the two houses meet in joint convention. The charges alleged that during the campaign Mr. Brown, as attorney general, had formed an alliance with the grain trust, offering for support "unlawful clemency" in suits pending.

A bill relating to common carriers was introduced in the house, prohibiting the employment of night operators or towermen of less than 21 years of age; providing that railroads shall move trains with greater regard to safety and permitting exceptions to the law in times of calamity. Another bill presented defines telegraph and telephone companies as common carriers.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 15.—By a party vote, 20 Republicans to 11 Democrats, the state senate Monday defeated and then expunged from its records a resolution for an investigation of the so-called smelter trust. The preamble to the resolution declared that "Simon Guggenheim is now and has habitually been engaged in violating the laws of the United States relating to the receiving of rebates, specific testimony whereof is offered to any court." Mr. Guggenheim has been endorsed by the Republican caucus as candidate for the United States senate.

HAVOC IN THE ALPS

AVALANCHES CAUSE LOSS OF LIFE AND PROPERTY.

Forests, Villages and Mountain Railways Swept Away by These Immense Masses of Snow and Ice—Mountain Climbers Meet Death.

(Special Correspondence.)

The avalanche season is at its height in Switzerland, says a correspondent writing from Geneva. From all directions come tales of death and wholesale destruction wrought by enormous falls of melting snow, broken ice and torrents of half-frozen muddy debris, containing huge blocks of stone, whole trunks of trees and solid masses of serac and glacier.

The damage already done is immense. Within the past few weeks many forests, villages and mountain railways have been swept away, buried or destroyed. Avalanches have a curious knack of falling on the same ground year after year, and avalanche breakers are often built to protect surrounding life and property as far as possible. In many places, avalanche breakers in the form of triangular stone walls have been erected to protect whole villages. There is a breaker of this sort at Frauenkirch, near Davos, where the wall of the church is so constructed that, should an avalanche sweep down upon it, the solid, pointed, plough-like edge of the wall would cut and divide the avalanche and turn it harmlessly aside. Rough timber fences, small zigzag stone walls, and even rows of stakes across steep slopes are used by the Swiss peasants as protections.

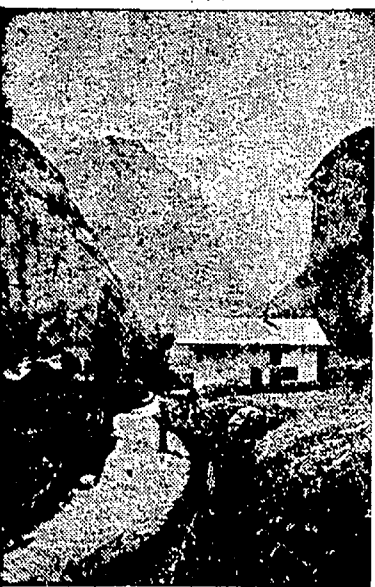

The compact snow avalanches, which form in the natural depressions and basins on the steep glacier slopes, high up on the mountains, are, by the time that they reach the valleys, composed of stones, earth, huge masses of roots and trees, all held together by the heavy, half-frozen, muddy snow in which they are encased. A mountaineer who was overtaken by an avalanche of this kind on the Splügen, though he escaped from death, had his coat so firmly frozen into the icy mass that he was stuck like a quail to a typewriter and could not release himself until assistance arrived.

Avalanche of 1888.

Often the frozen bodies of chamois have been found quite fit for food in the remains of old avalanches that have fallen many years previously. One of the most famous Swiss avalanches, and one which only falls in very snowy seasons, is the Schwaben-tobellawine. In 1888 this avalanche fell near Glarus-Davos, destroying life and property and carrying all before it. The mass was estimated to be over 700,000 cubic feet in bulk, while the tunnel which was afterward cut through it to allow the traffic to pass along the valley road was over 300 feet long and 12 feet high.

The Simplon, always noted for the serious avalanches falling from the Gletschhorn glaciers, was early in July the scene of an immense fall of snow and rock owing to the bursting of a glacier lake on the Bodmer. But, unlike the terrible Simplon avalanche of 1901, this fall, happily, did not cost any human life, though a party of peasants saw their cattle dashed to death, and were only just able to save themselves in time. The cause of this fall was the formation of a huge lake on the glacier.

As the heat of summer increased, the rapidly melting snow filled this icy Alpine reservoir to repletion, and suddenly, on July 2d, without an instant's warning, it burst its frozen barriers, and in a few seconds discharged thousands of tons of water, ice and snow into the valley below, destroying everything in its way, and never stopping until it reached the Krumbach Gorge, into which it plunged, and in an incredibly short time completely filled it up. In June a somewhat similar fall swept down upon the St. Gothard line between Lucerne and Goldau, stopping all traffic and doing a great deal of damage. No lives were lost by this misshap, but a signal man's house, which was luckily empty at the time, was swept away.

The "Eislawinen."

Scarcely less dangerous than the spring avalanches, or "Grundlawinen," caused by melting snow or the bursting of glacier lakes and reservoirs, are the wonderful ice avalanches, or "eislawinen," which are among the wonders and perils of the Jungfrau, the Matterhorn, the Piz Bernina, and many other famous glacier-clad mountains. These marvelous falls of glittering, gleaming ice consist of thousands of tons of shattered, twisted seracs, or ice needles, which have fallen from the glaciers and been precipitated down the mountain by the heat of the sun and the action of the weaner.

These huge falls or cataclysms of ice are a terrible danger to the climber who rashly ventures without a guide into their vicinity after sunrise. Not long ago a party of Zermatt climbers went without guides to admire the seracs of the famous Z'mutt glacier. As they slowly moved away they heard behind them a mighty roar like that of the discharge of heavy artillery, which was fiercely echoed and re-echoed by a thousand crags and peaks. Looking back, they saw countless tons of ice in huge blocks and mighty, splintered columns fall on the very spot where a few moments before they had all been standing.

Nine athletic young members of the Ski Club, mostly Englishmen, while making an excursion from Lucerne in March, were caught in a bad snow avalanche. One of the party, a Swiss, was hurled over a precipice and killed outright, while the others, after being rolled in the snowy mass for many hundreds of feet, miraculously escaped with only minor scratches and bruises.

Some Recent Disasters.

One huge snowslide on the Jura mountains buried seven children, of whom two were killed; while an avalanche at Lovrana carried away the roof and upper floor of the village inn. A Dutch student named Rijkens, from the Federal College, while glissading down a steep snow slope at Susten in June, started an avalanche which carried him away and flung him into a rocky torrent, where his body was found with the skull fractured and both arms broken; while within the last fortnight three fatal as well as any number of less serious accidents have occurred owing to avalanches of various sorts.

Only a few days ago the well-known Russian author, Leykow, almost lost his life. With three friends he was endeavoring to scale the highest peak of the Presanella group. He was struck on the head by a large stone, and fell from his foothold, dragging his companions with him. They all fell a considerable distance, but, owing to great good luck, none except Leykow was really seriously injured. An avalanche of stones was also the cause of the death of Prof. Alois Kimmeler, who a few days ago was found dying at the foot of a precipice between Hochtor and Johnsach, in the Austrian Alps. He had been lying in agony, half buried by heavy stones, for seventy-two hours, and died almost as help arrived.

French Wash Houses.

Almost every little stream in rural France has wash houses on its banks, where the women of the neighborhood wash their clothes. They use a great deal of soap and chemicals. These so contaminate the water that the milk of the cows is sometimes poisoned.

A Wonderful Country.

"Eastern visitors to the west are generally prepared for any phenomenal showing in the line of agriculture, stock-raising and the like," says a Colorado man, "but once in awhile they are taken by surprise."

"A New Hampshire man, who was spending his vacation on the ranch of a relative in Colorado, went out one morning to inspect a large incubator in which the young chicks were hatching. In one corner of the incubator a neglected perch-seed, encouraged by the warmth of the atmosphere, had burst, and a tiny sprout several inches long was growing out of it."

"Suffering Caesar!" exclaimed the New Hampshire man, as this caught his eye, "do you hatch out your peaches in this country?"—Harper's Weekly.

Fishermen Use Wireless.

The wireless telephone, it is claimed, has successfully entered into the deep-sea fishing industry. For the last week experiments have been conducted by the wireless telegraph station at Brant Rock, which is equipped with a wireless telephone, with a small vessel stationed among the fleet of the south shore fishermen 12 miles out in Massachusetts bay. Recently, it is asserted, the fishermen wished to learn the prices ruling in the Boston market. The operator on the wireless, fitted boat called up Brant Rock, and telephoned the fishermen's request. The land operator asked Boston, and the answer was forwarded back to the fishermen.—N. Y. Post.

THINKS HIS WIFE IS TOO FAT

Unhappy German Refuses to Live With Woman Who Has No Waist Line.

An undisciplined waist line has slain the love of Louis Link of New York, has destroyed the happiness of Mrs. Link, poisoned a romance and broken up a home. Grief has taken permanent possession of the bosom of the innocent victim, but her waist line still spreads, and all efforts to defeat its territorial progress have so far proved vain.

Louis Link, who has had a cigar store at 265 Forsyth street for eighteen years, looked about him for a bride five years ago. With much discretion, he selected a sylphlike young woman with melting eyes. The charmer tipped the scale at ninety-six, and her bank account had reached the snug figure of $300. Mr. Link was enchanted. His wooing was brief, but ardent, and two lives were presently made one.

Time passed, and when it presently developed that Mrs. Link's bodice no longer met about her slim outline, but parted with bursting buttons; it was not considered a family joke. When, however, her skirts began to tip in front, a little line of anxiety crept into Louis' brow. Long walks and less sauntering were prescribed.

Mrs. Link lost her light and frolicsome disposition. Increasing weight crushed down her gayety. But the climax came when one morning Louis in a moment of exuberance stole his arm about that once-lissom waist and felt that he was attempting to encircle the globe. Unexplored expanses yawned beyond his reach.

Mrs. Link was thereafter subjected to strenuous methods. An evil tasting anti-fat nostrum was poured down her unwilling throat. She rowed long distances in melting weather and swam, as if making a record. She exercised till she was ready to drop; but Mrs. Link's "lumpiness" instead of disappearing, only became set.

Then Louis fled. He obtained a divorce from a rabbi, but the court refused to sustain it. Four times the recalcitrant spouse returned to wrestle with that waist line and as often deserted again in despair. Now he has agreed to pay his expansive Sarah $7 weekly, and they will live apart.

MAN SHOT BY A WOODCHUCK

Hunter Says Animal He Was Trying to Drown Pulled Trigger of His Rifle.

George Adams of Waterbury lies fatally wounded at the home of Clifford Barnum in Middlebury, Conn.

Adams was shot by a woodchuck. He went to Middlebury recently on business. One night, with two farm hands and his wife, he went in pursuit of a woodchuck which was in a burrow in a lot a quarter of a mile from the Barnum home. The men poured bucket after bucket of water into the woodchuck hole and soon had the animal gasping to keep his head above water at the mouth of the hole. Adams tried to push the woodchuck under the water with the butt of his rifle. As he did so the woodchuck, Adams says, seized the rifle trigger with its claws, discharging it. The bullet entered Adams' stomach, passed through his body and lodged in his side. Surgeons have failed to locate it. The woodchuck escaped in the excitement following the shooting.

Grasshoppers Break Up Dinner Party.

A dozen smartly gowned women and as many men in evening dress were thrown into a ludicrous panic when Gregory Williams, fourteen years old, son of Mrs. Gregory Williams of Brooklyn, let loose 400 grasshoppers at a dinner party which his mother was giving at her summer home in Oxford, Me. Women grabbed frantically at their hair, in which the insects lodged, clutching the air to ward off the insects, and knocked dishes, vases and expensive ornaments to the floor in their wild flight around the dining room. Two of the women fainted, and the party was broken up.

TRAINMEN'S LONG HOURS

COMMERCE COMMISSION FINDS THEY DON'T REST ENOUGH.

Not Being Restricted by Employers, They Overwork Themselves to Get Extra Pay

Washington, Jan. 15.—Monday's investigation by the interstate commerce commission into the block signal system in use on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, showed that men engaged in the operation of trains work an excessive number of hours without a sufficient period of rest intervening. It was developed that no restrictions are placed upon the hours' trainmen shall work, and that they take advantage of the opportunity offered to labor for many hours in order to increase their compensation. An instance was given where an engineer had worked for 36 hours and had no rest during that time.

The company, according to the testimony, relied upon its men to claim rest when they felt the need of it. The commission dwelt at length on the question of hours of trainmen, because it is believed by it that the facts brought out in this particular phase of the investigation will accelerate the passage through congress of the bill limiting the hours of those engaged in the transportation service of railroads.

Only five witnesses were heard Monday, and the most important points were brought out by General Manager Fitzgerald, Trainmaster Kelly and William M. Dutrow, the operator at Silver Springs, Md. Mr. Fitzgerald testified that his road had never neglected an opportunity to test any safety appliance offered that would in any way materially lessen accidents.

He predicted that the "surprise" check system would be adopted in keeping a watch on operators and those who have to do with the use of signals. Accidents, he said, largely occur as the result of the failure of men to take the proper time to rest.

Mr. Kelly's testimony related to the movement of trains and the excessive hours of labor on the part of the trainmen. Operator Dutrow testified that the crews of two trains that were in the accident had endeavored to throw the responsibility for the wreck upon his shoulders.

READERS OF ADVERTISEMENTS

HAVE LEARNED

To "Make a Body of a Limb"

Shakespeare urged people to "LEARN TO MAKE A BODY OF A LIMB"—to mentally construct the whole of a man; a claim, an enterprise, a plan, an institution—from a fragment, an inkling, a hint.

Most of the world's people have learned this lesson, in some degree. Seeing a limb which should be an under-sized body, the average person now-a-days declines to credit an enthusiastic statement that the body to which it belongs is really of Titanic size!

Readers of newspapers have become adepts at this art of constructing a body from a limb. Especially is this true of those who read advertisements. It is no longer possible for a store to create the impression of BIGNESS and IMPORTANCE and ENTERPRISE if the store's advertising—WHICH IS THE "LIMB" THE READERS SEE—is small, inadequate, spasmodic, unmagnetic, un-alarung.

If a big store is content with an advertising appropriation and campaign which would be adequate only for a small store—the big store will be THOUGHT of as a small store—it will be logically constructed into a non-enterprising store.

The shrewd merchant sees to it that his advertising SHOWING in the newspaper is proportioned to his store's importance in the community—so that the most casual reader, accustomed to "make a body of a limb," may also, with absolute certainty,

"Make a Store From An Ad."
